PROJECT SUMMARY

The Distillery at South Shore, a mixed-use complex at 129 McKean Street in Pittsburgh, PA, has secured $5.1 million in financing as part of PA's C-PACE Program. As third-party administrator for Allegheny County, Sustainable Energy Fund oversaw the C-PACE project application process to ensure compliance with Act 30 Statute and the C-PACE Guidelines. Twain Community Partners III LLC executed the C-PACE transaction with Distillery at South Shore. The existing industrial property is a shell and contains 28,022 square feet. The proposed renovations and construction of a five-story addition will increase the area of the building to 53,862 square feet. The commercial facility will be used as a distillery for spirits, hand sanitizer, a market, a restaurant, a cigar bar, and a lounge. The property meets the energy savings guidelines for new construction/substantial rehabilitation as outlined in the Allegheny County C-PACE Guidelines, demonstrating whole building level energy savings.

129 McKean Street, LLC is expected to achieve energy savings through proposed improvements across the building's systems, including HVAC systems, lighting, building envelope, and elevators. HVAC system improvements include upgrading the packaged rooftop system with DX cooling and gas heat VAV system. Air infiltration and heat transmittance will be reduced with upgraded windows, and aerosol barrier applied to the walls, and improved insulation. Lighting improvements will include LED lighting upgrades throughout the building, and elevator equipment upgrades will save additional energy. Based on eQuest, the project forecasts to save 247,976 kWh in electricity and 552 MMBtu in natural gas, with an overall energy savings of 58.7% below baseline.
